SIMMONS BOY DEAD; MYSTERY IN THE CASE

MISSING 4 DAYS; FOUND IN CANAL

Body Not Marked, but There Are Many Strange Features.

CORONER SUGGESTS ACCIDENT

But Friends Believe Matter Is Worthy of Inquiry.

4 CHILDREN GONE IN 3 DAYS

Two of Them Are Still Missing and One Has Been Found.—Funeral of Simmons Boy to Be Held To-morrow.

Notwithstanding that Coroner George R. Kinne has signed a death certificate, giving "accidental death by drowning" as his verdict in the case of 10-year-old Richard McKimley Simmons of No. 909 East Fayette street, whose body was found in the Erie canal, near the Franklin street bridge, early yesterday afternoon, there are several important things that remain unexplained in the case. They are:

- 1.—Just how, when and where Richard Simmons came to his death; this is the most important point of all.
2.—Where the child had been prior to his disappearance. (He was last seen alive Thursday morning.)
3.—Whether Peter Simmons, father of the boy who has been missing from home for some time, is now in Syracuse or has been in Syracuse lately.
Richard McKimley Simmons was one of four children to strangely disappear in

PETER SIMMONS (Father of dead boy, who has been missing since March 13.)

In this city within three days—three of them from the same apartment house in East Fayette street. Two are still missing—Bessie and Helen Newton, aged 9 and 11 years respectively. John Moriarty, nine, who disappeared from the House of Providence, has been found and returned to the orphanage and the Simmons child is dead this morning at Hart's undertaking rooms.

The police had not begun an investigation into the Simmons case up to last night. They shared the belief of the coroner that the boy came to his death by accident, but offered no solution of the strange phases of the case. Admitting that case may not have been one of kidnapping, friends of the Simmons family last night insisted that the affair was worth looking into.

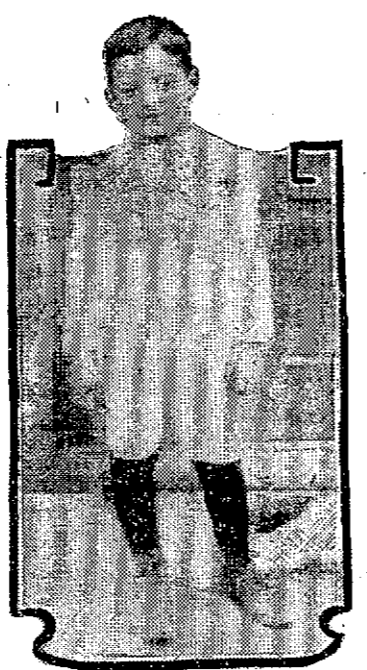

Richard Simmons was a pupil at Washington-Irving school. He was bright and popular and in the 2-2 grade. Ediza G. Chapman, principal of the school, says the boy did not attend the afternoon session Thursday. His mother last saw him at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, when she left him at a grocery not far from the family home.

Here is the story of Ralph Goodman, colored, of No. 1007 East Washington street, who is claimed to have been one of the last to have seen the Simmons boy alive: I saw Richard playing at a watering trough at East Water street and South Crouse avenue. Later I saw him near the Washington Irving school annex at East Fayette street and Irving avenue. A man came along and said something to Richard and took him by the right arm. I couldn't hear what the man said, but the man said something more, but I could not hear all. I asked Richard where he was going, and he said, "Shut up." I thought the man acted funny and I watched them. He and Richard walked away up that way and kept on walking. (As Ralph told this he indicated that the course taken was east in East Fayette street.) The man was tall and dark. He had on a dark brown suit of clothes and a slouch hat. Richard didn't hang back and went along as if he knew the man or was willing to go with him. The man called him "Richard" when he first spoke to him. I didn't tell my mother or anybody. After that, the next day, I guess, I was playing horse with Albert Reale, with my cousins, Albert and Albert told her about the man. I didn't tell her. Efforts to shake the boy's story were fruitless.

Albert Reale, 8 years old, is a son of Addison Reale of No. 100 South Crouse avenue. Mrs. Reale told of having seen Richard playing in front of her home Thursday, the time the Goodman boy said he saw Richard at the watering trough. The trough is but a few feet from the Reale home.

Mrs. Ida Oler of No. 127 Delhi street was with Mrs. Simmons when the story was told and she corroborated the tale. Harry Reddick, colored, 13, of No. 105 South Crouse avenue, knew Richard and was with the Goodman boy when the latter was located last night. The body of the Simmons boy was seen floating by a bridge tender yesterday, but no marks were found when it was examined at the undertaking rooms. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the residence of the

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED TO-DAY IN STRIKE OF THE GARMENT WORKERS

Employees Appear Confident of an Agreement After Meeting With Clothing Men.

A settlement of the strike of the Garment Workers, who have been out since June 1 at the plants of W. S. Peck & Company, Woodhull, Goodale & Bull, and the T. E. Clere Clothing Company, is expected to be made today. Members of the Strike Committee of the Garment Workers District Council, who had been in conference with the representatives of the three firms at W. S. Peck & Company's offices yesterday afternoon, appeared to be elated last night with the prospects of an agreement. What the terms offered were the men would not say, but it is still believed that the strikers will accept nothing short of the 10 per cent. increase asked for.

T. J. Downey of Albany, a representative of the Bureau of Arbitration, was in the city yesterday, and last night he, too, seemed confident that a settlement would be reached to-day. Others active in bringing about the settlement include Max Altman of Buffalo, a general organizer for the U. G. W. of A.; Calvin Wyatt, a general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, and Charles A. Yates, business agent of the Central Trades and Labor Assembly, who is a clothing cutter.

The social sessions held daily by the cutters are so popular that one of the out-of-town men said last night he did not believe they wanted to return to work. He said: "They would rather have a vacation in June than in September."

A general mass meeting of the strikers is to be held at the City Hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It will be similar to one held last week at Turn Hall and will be addressed by members of several unions of Garment Workers. There is also talk among the strikers of having a picnic. The Strike Committee is pleased with the orderly conduct of the strikers in the last two weeks. Mr. Downey said last night he was gratified to find such cordial relations between the strikers' representatives and the employers. Mr. Altman and Mr. Downey denied last night that the clothing manufacturers mentioned favored establishing an "open shop." The Garment Workers only a comparatively short time ago won out in this city in a fight against the open shop.

STEAM PIPE BURSTS, SCALDS AN ENGINEER

John Rohrer Is Badly Burned on Barge Canal Dredge at Brewerton.

John Rohrer, an engineer in the employ of the Stewart, Kerbaugh, Shanley Company, was seriously burned by the bursting of a steam pipe on one of the company's dredges near Brewerton at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. He was brought to this city at 9:30 o'clock on an R. V. & O. train and taken to the Hospital of the Good Shepherd in an ambulance.

Mr. Rohrer was working near the engine when the pipe broke, but before he could escape he was enveloped in scalding steam. None of the other engines were near enough to be in danger. Rohrer finally got away from the engine through the building steam. Dr. F. R. Strong of Brewerton was called. The physician found burns extending through the skin and into the flesh on his back, chest and arms. The company has two dredges in the Onondaga river near Brewerton, where work is being done night and day. Mr. Rohrer, who is 23 years old, was working with a night gang. At the hospital last night it was said the man would probably recover.

Young Man Is Dead. Joseph Harroun, 23 years old, died shortly before 12 o'clock last night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Harroun, No. 125 Gifford street. He had been ill about one week. Besides his mother, he is survived by three brothers, Leonard, Edward and Francis Harroun, and one sister, Miss Leona Harroun, all of Syracuse. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Meagher & Cody, Funeral arrangements have not been made.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR VETERANS

They Will Have Reserved Location at the Monument Ceremonies.

SEATS IN PLAZA FOR AGED MEN

Two Hundred Guests of Board of Supervisors Will Be Seated on Speakers' Platform—Active to Stand in Ranks.

The surviving veterans of the war which saved the Union will have right of way at the dedication ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument next Tuesday afternoon. The entire south side of Clinton Square between Salina and Clinton streets will be reserved for those who can stand in their thinning regimental or company ranks during the exercises. Five hundred chairs will be placed on the monument plaza for those of the old soldiers who through age or infirmity should not be obliged to stand in the ranks. The Committee on Platform, of which M. D. Rubin is chairman, is planning to place as many more chairs in the square alongside the monument as are required for the comfort of the veterans.

The speaker's platform, it was announced yesterday, will be built out from the north side of the monument plaza, extending ten feet over the street. In addition to the speakers and others participating in the exercises, the invited guests of the Board of Supervisors will be seated upon this platform. These will be 200 in number and will include the following:

7 ONONDAGA SALOON MEN PAY FINE OF $100 EACH

Forty-nine Others, Indicted for Selling to Indians, Have Cases Put Over for a Year.

As the result of a compromise, seven of the fifty-six Onondaga county saloonkeepers and bartenders indicted for selling liquor to Indians paid fines of $100 each in the United States District Court at Binghamton yesterday. On motion of United States District Attorney George E. Curtis, the other forty-nine cases were put over for a year, and it was said that nothing further might be done with them. Those who paid the fine of $100 were also sentenced to serve six months in the Onondaga Penitentiary, but this part of the penalty was suspended.

The following are those who were fined: Joseph Bertella, No. 226 West Belden avenue; Jacob Renkel, East Water street; Charles Ireland, East Water and Market streets; John Michels, No. 21 West George street; Judson Stroud, South West street; John Harkaway, Solvay; Joseph Kloshelm, West Fayette street. Attorneys William F. Rafferty, Charles A. Shinaman, John H. Costello and Thomas H. Ward appeared for the defendants. The indictments were found by the United States Grand Jury at Utica last December. The defendants at that time pleaded not guilty and gave bail. Demurrers were interposed to the indictments and the cases were held over until the term of United States Court in Albany in February, and again delayed until the term held in this city last April. No effort was made to try them at that time and they were again deferred until the term which opened in Binghamton yesterday.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES PAY OUT $949,000 IN YEAR

Syracuse stands thirty-sixth in the list of cities with a population of 30,000 and over in the payment of insurance claims for 1909, according to The Insurance Press. The total amount paid out in this city during the year was $949,314. Following is a list of claims of $10,000 and over paid out in this city: John W. Cronin, $15,830; Valentine E. Maurer, $15,000; George W. Wright, $15,000; Osgood V. Tracy, $14,225; Frank B. Garrett, $12,000; George C. Evans, $10,500; Henry N. Burbank, $10,000. ENTIRE CITY URGED TO UNFURL FLAG

Business Men Asked to Decorate for Dedication Day.

To the Business Men and Citizens of Syracuse: On Tuesday, June 21 next, will occur the unveiling of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument. The same day will see the inauguration of the forty-fourth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The unveiling of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument has been honored by both the nation and the state, which have ordered details of troops here to take part in the ceremonies. The Vice-President of the United States and other distinguished men are to be our guests. The Mayor has declared it a civic holiday. It behooves us to present our best appearance, and the Committee of Arrangements calls upon all business men to decorate their places of business, and all citizens, both those living upon the line of parade and those living elsewhere, to display the national ensign. It is an honor due to the soldiers and sailors who fought their country's battles. JOHN F. HAYDEN, Chairman Committee of Arrangements.

KATHERINE HAYDEN OR MRS. M. H. SCHWARTZ TO UNVEIL MONUMENT?

Programme Committee to Consider Both Suggestions at Today's Meeting.

Whether Miss Katherine Hayden, the pretty fifteen-year-old daughter of Supervisor John E. Hayden, or Mrs. Max H. Schwartz will draw the cord at the formal unveiling of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument will be decided this afternoon by the Programme Committee, which directs the details of the dedication ceremonies. Many members of the Board of Supervisors take the position that Miss Hayden is the appropriate person to unveil the flag which unfolding will disclose in all its beauty Onondaga's memorial to her dead heroes. They urge that as in the launching of a ship the formal dedicatory act should be performed by a young woman and that there could be no more appropriate choice than the daughter of Chairman Hayden of the Monument Committee, who is a charming high school girl. It was reported yesterday that Chairman W. H. Peck and other members of the Board of Supervisors would to-day urge such a selection by the Programme Committee.

Friends of Mrs. M. H. Schwartz have taken the position that her long and important service in bringing about the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, as a reality, should result in according her this last formal honor and mark of recognition. Several members of the Monument Committee are among those who take this view.

In the announcement of the programme on Monday, a blank was left after the word "unveiling." This fact caused comment at the meeting of the General Committee of arrangements. Demand was made by several members that Mrs. Schwartz' name be placed upon the programme in this connection.

Suggestion was made that Chairman Hayden and Mrs. Schwartz settle the mooted question at a personal conference. Mr. Hayden took the position that the matter shall be left with the Programme Committee which meets to-day. T. W. Meacham who is chairman of the committee will seek to solve the question in a manner which will be generally satisfactory and which will save the dedication of the monument from being marred by discord.

LUKE M'HENRY IS URGED FOR STATE COMPTROLLER

Madison County Democrats and Many Editors Favor Him as Candidate.

The Democrats of Madison county have a candidate for Comptroller on the Democratic state ticket in Luke McHenry of Chittenango. Mr. McHenry is one of the veteran Democratic editors of the state and has a wide circle of political friends in all parts of the state, reaching from men in the Democratic ranks to party leaders.

Madison county has only three delegates in the state convention, but he has the united support of his local party associates, which cannot be said of a multitude of Syracuse Democrats who aspire to state nominations regardless of the local shrinkage of the party vote and the presence of three factions here. Mr. McHenry, who was in Syracuse yesterday declined to discuss his candidacy, but he was discussed by publication. He said, however, that he believed the Democratic gains made in Madison county in the last two years entitled it to consideration by the state leaders. The Democratic State Press Association is said to be behind Mr. McHenry's "boom." This is more of a political asset for him than the fact that he has been on friendly terms politically with W. J. Conners, late chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

BUILDING CODE IS COMPLETED

Will Be Submitted to Directors of Chamber Early Next Week.

HEARINGS WILL BE ARRANGED

Code Probably Will Not Be Made Public Until After Conferences With City Officials and Informal Changes.

Members of the Building Code Committee of the Chamber of Commerce believe that the code which they have completed, and which will be submitted to the directors of the Chamber early next week, will compare favorably with that of any city in the country. In framing the Syracuse regulations the codes of a dozen cities, together with the underwriters' code, were carefully gone over. The best features in use anywhere, which are adaptable to Syracuse, were adopted. The aim has been to prepare a building code specifically relevant to this city and its conditions. No public announcement will be made of the provisions of the code, it is understood, until several hearings and conferences have been held by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce. To Confer With Officials.

City officials will be invited to discuss the code in its various phases and it is expected that changes may be made to meet the predominant view on important matters before the code is published or turned over to Mayor Schoeneck and the Common Council, with a request that it be adopted. The city administration is not then expected to commit itself to the code without thorough discussion, public hearings and considerable revision of its provisions.

The Chamber of Commerce committee, which by months of laborious and painstaking work has produced the proposed Syracuse building code, is composed of Irving S. Merrill, chairman; Ralph S. Bowen, Irving D. Vann, E. H. Gaggin and W. J. Burns. These are, respectively, an engineer, an insurance man, a lawyer, an architect and a contractor. In going over the codes of other cities the committee found much which is not in any way applicable to Syracuse.

In determining the fire limits, within which special construction is mandated to guard against disastrous conflagrations and general ravages by fire, the committee has found that Syracuse has a unique situation.

Unique Business District. Its central business and manufacturing section is practically divided into four quarters by Onondaga creek and the Erie canal. The water pressure of the Syracuse system, as compared with that of other cities, has been an important factor in determining many provisions.

The need of a fair and effective building code has long been regarded as essential for the safe and stable growth of Syracuse. Recently Commissioner of Public Safety H. E. Hessler has found that the city has no power to enforce some very simple and desirable building regulations and has expressed himself as anxious that the city take early action toward the adoption of a code.

Clark's Strong Plea for Code. Former Commissioner of Public Safety Harlow C. Clark in his annual report for 1908 strongly urged the adoption of a building code.

ELKS OF SYRACUSE OBSERVE FLAG DAY

Hundreds Attend the Exercises at Lodge's Temple—G. W. Driscoll Speaks.

Several hundred persons crowded the Elks Temple last night to attend the ceremonies for the celebration of Flag Day by Syracuse Lodge, No. 31, E. P. O. E. The exercises, which are prescribed annually by the order, were held in the big hall on the third floor of the building. Dozens of American flags and many yards of red, white and blue bunting were used to carry out the pretty schema of decoration. After the reading of the ritual for the service, George W. Driscoll delivered a patriotic address. The "Elks' Tribute to the Flag" was given by William D. Ferguson and the "History of the Flag" by E. M. Wells.

Following the exercises the guests adjourned to the lower floor where refreshments were served. A large orchestra furnished music during the evening, and dancing followed.

Exalted Ruler Thomas M. Gafney last night received a telegram from Buffalo stating that an automobile driven by Carlisle H. Burgess of Detroit would leave the former city this morning en route for New York. Mr. Burgess is a son of E. S. Burgess, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Detroit Grand Lodge session, and a cable message from the lodge to Theodore Roosevelt to be delivered by Mr. Burgess to the latter when he lands in New York. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon fifteen automobiles will leave the Elks Temple, carrying a delegation of members of the Syracuse lodge, to meet Mr. Burgess at Auburn and accompany him into this city. Each car will be decorated with large banners bearing the inscription "E. P. O. E. 31." Mr. Gafney will lead the party in a machine marked "Pilot Car." It is expected that the Syracuse delegation with the "Roosevelt" car will reach here about 6 o'clock this evening.

DR. WEBB'S Own Words About Painless Dentistry

Knowing that thousands of Post-Standard readers would be more than pleased to know that there is such a thing as absolutely painless dentistry, our representative called on Dr. Webb at his office, No. 2 and 3 Larned Bldg., cor. Warren and East Genesee Sts. When asked about the "Step Vase" or "Vitalized Air" he used in his painless dentistry, Dr. Webb said: "It is a new discovery made by me after years of study. It is not only safe but it is perfectly safe and free from all disagreeable features. 'I could not say enough about it,'" continued the doctor, "without being suspected of exaggeration, but I will say that it positively guarantees to all and cures sensitive teeth or to extract from one to twenty willing two minutes' time—all without a particle of pain."
